VOICE OF THE PEOPLE.

Mr. Collins Replies.

To the Editor of The Times.

DEAR SIR,—As I am drawn before the public in a letter signed "One Who Knows," I ask a small share of your valuable space to explain my position in connection with road making and sugar making in this district. In the first place my wages were the same as other foremen. I received no more and would have worked for no less. In the next place I was not at the work by Kelly's lake, and know nothing about the correctness of the report made to the government. I also know nothing about the work on the Bridge river trail. I was at another camp while those works were being done. In regard to being allowed full time, all foremen are allowed full time, as they always have something to do. In my case I not only put in full time, but on occasions demanding extra push I work on Sunday. Three or four times during the season did I thus break into our day of rest in order to expedite the work. Allen, the superintendent, was very exact in regard to time, and kept us going to the minute. Now, about the gossip in camp, is it worth notice? As I maintain we did our work fairly and honestly: does the little tattle of the camp make the value of the work more or less? I suppose that there is not a superintendent in the service who is not criticised by the men in camp. They must talk, and subjects to make talk are not numerous, and we criticise every one from the Chief Commissioner to the local overseer—I may have made disparaging remarks about Mr. Allen or about the Chief Commissioner—I did not suppose either would resign on that account.

I think I have disposed of all but the sorghum charge, and to that I plead guilty in this, that I did help in the reduction of sorghum juice to syrup, but I do deny that the government paid me for the time I was so employed. The public work at the time was simply shoveling out the road, and it needed but little overseeing. Mr. Grinder, an old settler, had pluckily gone into the cultivation of the sorghum, and had also gone to the expense of importing machinery to reduce the juice to syrup. As I was somewhat acquainted with the process, and the only one in the province that Grinder knew who understood the work, he was glad of what information I could give him on the subject, and he was quite willing to pay for it. Now, Mr. Editor, can you tell me of any way I could more effectually assist the province than in aiding to make the sorghum industry a success? I am of the opinion that the government could well afford to offer a bonus towards assisting in developing this branch of the sugar industry, and thus make us to produce one of the most expensive articles of our daily use. To show that the industry can succeed if properly fostered, I may add that Mr. Grinder made about one hundred and twenty-five gallons of syrup from from an acre of Sorghum, and that a hundred gallons to the acre is considered a good yield in the south. Now, sir, you know better than I the amount of sugar consumed in this country and can estimate the benefit it would confer upon the people of this province could they produce instead of importing their sugar.

In conclusion, if "One Who Knows" brings my name before the public on any such trifling charges in future, I shall feel very much inclined to let it pass unanswered. I am yours, respectfully,

JOHN COLLINS,
Alias the Texas Cow Boy.

Hat Creek, Sept., 1885.

The Vice-Regal Reception.

To the Editor of The Times:

SIR,—Do you not think the meeting of last evening rather a fizzle, to use a vulgarism? Had not time enough elapsed since the advertisement (17th Sept.) for His Worship and other public men to get up some kind of a programme of intended proceedings setting forth the intentions and wishes gathered by the movers therein? Now, we are left alone with Mr. Fell's suggestion to give these gentlemen a dinner! Then again, this is negatived in a measure, by the remark of another speaker that coming separately, the members of the illustrious party might require several receptions, meaning of course, that the dinner could not be kept hot long enough, or perhaps, would not look well served up in courses as the guests dropped in. Where were the members of our legislature, judicature governors and ex-governors, &c., &c., lawyers, senators and such like? Absent! Mute! No, a centennial meeting was held on the same evening; centennials have a way that cannot be deferred. And a lady sang "Twickenham Ferry," and a gentleman sang "The Wandering Boy;" and a very agreeable evening was spent. But to be serious. Lord Dufferin was enthusiastically received in 1876 by all classes of the community. Triumphal arches, flags, mottoes, and speeches galore. I will not allude to the gracious Princess and the Marquis. But are the Marquis of Lansdowne and his brilliant staff, or concomitant visitors inferior to Lord Dufferin and his sweet lady; or has the enthusiasm died out, we having got what we wanted—the railway—or is Victoria poorer than she was nine years ago. I want to know?

PAUL PRY.

Victoria, Sept. 22d, 1885.

Money for Prisoners' Defence.

To the Editor of The Times:

SIR,—I notice in your issue of last evening that in the case of Hibbs, the Lewiston forger, the Superintendent of Police, W. Roycraft, paid $500 out of the money obtained by the forged documents for the prisoner's defence without any authority whatever, and that a Supreme Court Judge ordered a further sum of $250 to be paid to Mr. Theodore Davie for the same purpose. Yesterday the Chief Justice is reported by the Standard to have said in the case of Frank Angelos that as there was no money found on his person he did not think he could make an advance for his defence. It would therefore appear that the only chance a prisoner here has to obtain legal assistance is to steal enough and then apply to a judge to apply a portion of the stolen money for such purpose.

TO-DAY'S DESPATCHES.

Affairs in Roumelia.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—The Standard to-day, commenting on affairs in Roumelia, urges signatory powers to the treaty of Berlin, that although it may be too late to restore statu quo in Roumelia, they should take immediate measures to prevent the spread of insurrection to other Balkan States.

Russia Proposes a Conference.

Special to THE TIMES.

LONDON, Sept. 23.—Russia has proposed a conference of the Powers on the Roumelian difficulty, but wants the Porte to take the initiatory steps in the matter. Austria will await a decision from the Porte before committing herself on the question.

The Porte Issues a Circular.

Special to THE TIMES.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Sept. 23.—The Porte has issued a circular to the signatory powers of the treaty of Berlin protesting that the conduct of Prince Alexander of Bulgaria is in violation of the stipulations of the treaty of Berlin and declaring that the sultan has resolved on efficient action to carry out the rights of the porte, contained in article 16 of the treaty, which provides that in event of internal or external security of eastern Roumelia being threatened, the porte after notifying the power of the exigencies that require it, may send Ottoman troops into the provinces.

Bulgarian Unity.

Special to THE TIMES.

BERLIN, Sept. 23.—A semi-official statement is made that the powers will not look calmly on the breaking of the treaty of Berlin, but will side with Turkey, and if Russia oppose them she will be isolated only after the Bulgarians have been restored to common sense, if the Powers decide what shall be done for Bulgarian unity.

Bismarck Accepts an Apology.

Special to THE TIMES.

BERLIN, Sept. 23.—Prince Bismarck has accepted the apology of Spain for the recent insult to the German embassy at Madrid.

The Caroline Grab.

Special to THE TIMES.

BERLIN, Sept. 22.—The National Zeitung says that Germany is ready to admit Spain's prior occupation of Yap, but not of the whole Caroline group, especially as after the English rights had been settled in 1876, the Spanish minister declared that no claim to the Carolines had been raised by Spain.

Message of Sympathy.

Special to THE TIMES.

ROME, Sept. 23.—King Humbert's message of sympathy to the inhabitants of Palermo, where the greatest suffering exists, owing to the prevalence of cholera, was received with enthusiastic expressions of gratitude. The epidemic in Palermo is stationary. Stormy weather prevails throughout Sicily.

Musselmen Discharged.

Special to THE TIMES.

PHILLIPPOPOLIS, Sept. 23.—All Musselmans enrolled in the militia of Roumelia have been discharged from service as a precautionary measure against conveying military secrets to Turkey. The sympathy of the Musselmen is undoubtedly with the Porte, and if permitted to remain in the army they would probably fraternize with Turkish soldiers.

Prince Alexander of Bulgaria declares he is able to withstand the attacks of all the forces the Sultan can rally to support his claims in Roumelia.

Demonstration by Students.

Special to THE TIMES.

BELGRADE, Sept. 23.—Students of this city, on hearing a rumor to the effect that Austria was preparing to annex Bosnia under cover of present excitement, made a demonstration in front of the Royal Palace against such proceeding. The crowd became so noisy that the police dispersed them.

Indicating Public Sentiment.

Special to THE TIMES.

VIENNA, Sept. 22.—A meeting of the members of the left in the Reichstath was held here to-day. Seventy-one members favored the formation of a single party association with the title of Austro-German club, while the remaining 47 constituted themselves into a German club.

The Press Prosecuted.

Special to THE TIMES.

MADRID, Sept. 23.—The newspapers here and in the provinces have been prosecuted by the government for their utterances.

Emblems to be Returned.

Special to THE TIMES.

PHILIPPOPOLIS, Sept. 23.—Prince Alexander has ordered several Turkish emblems seized during the rising on Friday last to be restored to their owners. He also telegraphed the Czar asking him to favor the unity of Roumelia and Bulgaria, and to grant the united countries the protection of Russia.

Regiments Leave for Herat.

Special to THE TIMES.

CABUL, Sept. 23.—Three Afghan regiments equipped with Martini-Henry rifles have left here for Herat.

LIFE ASSURANCE.

The Mutual Life Assurance Company of New York.

MR. H. F. HEISTERMAN represents the above famous company in this province. It has assets valued by the Massachusetts department at $103,283,301; a sum which if rolled into a mass of pure gold would form a globe of precisely eight feet two and a quarter inches in diameter. Gold being the most malleable of metals it can be beaten into leaves of which 282,000 in thickness make one inch, and of which one pound Troy would cover two acres and 145½ rods. Yet the globe of gold mentioned, if beaten out into these transparent and flowing leaves, would spread over only 87 2-5 square miles. The company's ramifications are extensive in Canada as well as in the United States. The Mutual is not only the strongest financially but likewise one of the most liberal of all life assurance companies. Mr. Heisterman may well feel elated with his company.

GENERAL DESPATCHES.

ANOTHER YACHT RACE.

The Genesta and the Dauntless Start on a 300 Mile Cruise for a $2500 Cup.

NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—A start in the yacht race for the Brenton's reef challenge cup was made this afternoon. An American and Austrian bark, which cleared the bar this morning, were not able to work off shore, the wind having gone down. They were close to the light ship and were the only vessels in sight except the pilot boat which does station duty. The tug Ocean King does duty as a committee boat.

The cup is a magnificent silver trophy, valued at $2500. It was offered by James Gordon Bennett in 1872, and is open to be contested for by yachts of all nations. The distance is from Sandy Hook light ship, around Brenton's reef light ship, off Newport harbor and return, about 300 miles. It was first won July 21, 1872, by the Rambler, in 39 hours, 55 minutes and 29 seconds, and the same yacht successfully defended it September 21st of that year in 43 hours, 25 minutes, and 42 seconds. A third race was run July 29, 1876, when the Idler won it in the fast time of 31 hours, 18 minutes and 16 seconds. The Idler being subsequently sold the cup reverted to the New York yacht club and the present is the fourth contest for it.

When near Sandy Hook light ship this afternoon bow lines were cast off, and the yachts made sail and prepared for a long sail. The Luckenbach gave the preparatory signal at 4:49 p. m., having placed herself in a position a little to the southwest of the light ship.

The Dauntless was under main and foresail, forestaysail, jib, flying jib and main club topsail. The Genesta carried her mainsail, forestaysail, jib, flying jib and club topsail.

At 4:50 the signal to start was given. The yachts were then southwest of the committee boat. They came around and passed the line nearly abreast of each other, the Genesta being to windward. The Dauntless had her jib topsail and maintopmast stay sail. The Genesta did not set any more sail, but soon after crossing the line she crossed the Dauntless and began leaving her. The yachts were heading eastward. The wind was very light, from south southwest, and the weather clear, with a long swell on the ocean.

At 5:20 the Genesta was about a mile ahead. When darkness set in the Genesta was observed to be nearly two miles ahead of the Dauntless. The Luckenbach had left them and was heading for home, leaving the Ocean King to keep the yachts company. Their progress was not very fast, as the wind was light.

The Genesta-Dauntless Race.

Special to THE TIMES.

SANDY HOOK, Sept. 23.—At sundown last evening there was little wind from the northeast with light rain; wind moderate. At 11 p. m. the wind was steadily increasing, until about 8 a. m., when it had a force of forty-eight miles an hour and was from the northwest. Weather is cloudy, with a heavy sea. At 9 a. m. nothing was seen or heard of the Dauntless or Genesta.

NEWPORT, Sept. 23.—The yacht reported having rounded Brenton's reef light ship last night at 9:30 o'clock proved to be the Genesta; her signal going up at 9:30, after having got entirely clear of the light ship; the wind was then from the northeast and blowing fresh. The Genesta did not have all her racing sails up. There was a long and tedious difference between the two yachts, confirming the news brought here yesterday that off Montauk Point the Genesta was ten miles ahead. Soon after midnight rain began to fall and the wind increased in velocity. At one o'clock there was a slight clearing in the weather; at 1:20 o'clock the Dauntless, which had not been seen for several minutes, sent up her signals. At 9 o'clock this morning the wind was strong and from the northeast.

FIRE ISLAND, 11:45 a. m., Sept. 23.—The Genesta is now south of Fire Island, bound home. She has her topmast housed and is plunging well into the sea. The Dauntless is now in sight. Wind is north west and blowing sixty miles an hour.

Bankers' Convention.

Special to THE TIMES.

CHICAGO, Sept. 23.—The eleventh annual session of the American Bankers' Association began this morning with a very large attendance, fully 500 representatives being present. The Executive Council offered the following resolution: That it is the sense of the convention that the coinage of silver dollars under compulsory law of 1878 is detrimental to the best interests of the people and dangerous to the welfare of the government, and that the law should be immediately suspended and remain in operation until international agreement of leading commercial nations shall give substantial assurances as to the future relations of gold and silver as money.

Affairs at Rock Spring.

Special to THE TIMES.

CHEYENNE, Sept. 23.—Gen. Schofield returned this morning from Rock Springs, on his special trip. He went out to Fort Russell to inspect the new buildings recently constructed under the supervision of Mayor Lord. He left on the regular passenger train at 10 a. m. Affairs at Rock Springs remain as heretofore. It is announced that Gen. Schofield found everything quiet. The working force at the mines were increasing daily. The troops, however, will not be withdrawn until the discharged miners have left town.

The California and Oregon Railway.

Special to THE TIMES.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., Sept. 23.—Two carloads of Chinese laborers came up from San Francisco to-day en route to Delta, to be employed in extending the California and Oregon Railway.

Doubtful who was Meant.

The Seattle Chronicle contains the following card. It shows how important it is that the Anti-Chinese agitators should be careful in their announcements: "John Collins, Johnny Halloran, McGraw, John Dennis Hill, the writer hereof, and other prominent Irishmen of the city, are somewhat in doubt as to whether the mysterious dodger circulated about the city last night was a sanguinary warning that the Irish must go or whether it related to the Chinese."

A Rare Opportunity.

Dr. Mintie, of San Francisco, who is admitted to be the most successful specialist on the Pacific Coast, is now represented in this city. The rooms of the doctor are at the Oriental hotel, where consultation may be had free.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

PAPER is now moulded into spokes for carriage and wagon wheels. It is claimed to be both cheaper and better than wood for the purpose.

WHAT the Governor General said about Ontario at the London fair is worth bearing in mind. He had been looking up the figures and found that out of a total number of horses in the Dominion, Ontario owned one-half; out of the total number of horned cattle in the Dominion, Ontario owned nearly one-half; out of a total of 42,000,000 bushels of wheat grown in the Dominion, Ontario grew 32,000,000; out of 16,000,000 bushels of barley grown in the Dominion, Ontario raised 14,000,000, and out of 48,000,000 bushels of roots, Ontario grew 40,000,000.

AMONG the startling innovations in party life in Nova Scotia is a letter from SENATOR POWER, Liberal, to the Liberal Halifax Chronicle, censuring the journal for an attack upon the Conservative Minister of Justice, SIR ALEXANDER CAMPBELL. SENATOR POWER applauds SIR ALEXANDER at the expense of his colleagues in the government when he says he has been at different times Postmaster-General, Minister of Militia and Minister of Justice; and in every case his department has been conducted most efficiently, more honestly and with less regard for mere party considerations than that of any of his colleagues.

THE intemperateness of some hot-headed advocates of temperance, is proverbial, but it is doubtful if a more stricking illustration of it ever occurred than that furnished by the clergymen during the recent visit of the Governor-General to the Ontario Model Farm at Guelph. Of late years wine has not been kept in that institution as a refreshment for visitors, but the other day, when LORD LANSDOWNE and MR. MOWAT paid it a visit, a decanter of wine was placed in the dining room. When a number of local clergymen who accompanied the two distinguished visitors sighted it, they left the room in indignation. The report does not say whether LORD LANSDOWNE and MR MOWAT were crushed, or whether they sat down and enjoyed one another's company. The Governor-General has probably spent a good deal of his time lately in trying to ascertain under what system of social ethics guests are allowed to insult their host because some item on the menu does not suit their tastes.

HUDSON BAY NAVIGATION.

The project of establishing a new grain route to Europe for the Canadian Northwest by a steam line through Hudson Bay, receives a blow in the experience of the Abbie Bradford. This vessel, a New Bedford whaler, which has just reached St. John's for repairs, passed a part of the summer in Hudson Bay, cruising for whales. On attempting to leave the Bay she encountered heavy ice, on the 16th of August, near the middle of Hudson Straits. A fog prevailed at the time, and before she could be put about the ice thumped her heavily on all sides. Almost knocked to pieces, she was kept afloat only by incessant pumping, and after a series of great perils and sufferings her crew succeeded in getting her to St. John's.

This experience of a sailing vessel in mid-August is to be added to that of the Arctic steamer Alert in June of the present year. The latter vessel, thoroughly equipped as a voyager in the polar seas, was held a prisoner in the ice for twenty-one days at the mouth of Hudson Straits, up to July 4, and after being released was again jammed, and so badly damaged that she also had to put back to St. John's for repairs.

It is true that news has recently been brought overland to Winnipeg from Fort York, on the Western shore of Hudson Bay, at the mouth of Nelson river, that the Alert, on her second trial from St. John's, easily passed the straits and continued her course across the bay. But nobody has doubted that the straits were navigable at the end of July. What the combined experience of the Abbie Bradford and the Alert indicate is that the straits cannot always be relied on for safe navigation except during a brief portion of the summer.

DISQUALIFIED SENATORS.

If there was any force in our remarks on absentee senators, it applied equally to SENATOR McDONALD and SENATOR McINNES. The Colonist thinks the point well taken, but in discussing it refers only to the latter gentleman. That extremely partizan journal has nothing whatever to say against SENATOR McDONALD, who has been absent from the province nearly two years. SENATOR McINNES surely has as much right to live in Toronto as SENATOR McDONALD has to reside in London. Both are alike censurable for the contempt they are showing to the people they are supposed to represent. Fancying themselves secure in their positions they, in effect, snap their fingers in the faces of the residents and say: "What care we for your good opinion; are we not senators for life."

But are they secure? Does not their removal from the province create two vacancies in the Senate which SIR JOHN would be justified in filling at once by new appointments. Our constitution—the British North America Act—explicitly declares:

23. The qualification of a senator shall be as follows:
(5.) He shall be a resident in the province for which he is appointed.
"31. The place of a senator shall become vacant in any of the following cases:
(5.) If he ceases to be qualified in respect of property or of residence; provided that a senator shall not be deemed to have ceased to be qualified in respect of residence by reason only of his residing at the seat of the government of Canada, while holding an office under that government requiring his presence there.

Accordingly, before a man can be appointed a Senator he must be a resident, and he ceases to be a Senator when he ceases to be a resident. There may be some difficulty in defining what is "residence" under the act, but the proviso, in sub-section 5 of section 31, seems to us to have an important bearing on the point. Residence at the seat of government, when holding office under Government, does not disqualify. The inference is obvious, and only one conclusion can be drawn from the language used. Every other instance of non-residence, is a disqualifying one. This point is made all the stronger by the absence in the constitutional act referred to of any stipulation for the residence of members of the House of Commons. The framers of our constitution wisely decided that as Senators were to be appointed by the government of the day, they must be of the people, and live with the people they were called upon to represent in the higher branch of the Legislature. Members of the House of Commons were to be elected every five years by the votes of the people, and a residential qualification in their case would not only be unnecessary but it would have been unwise and in some instances impracticable to make it compulsory.

KIDNAPPING.

The recent kidnapping of LAWRENCE BRAINERD in Manitoba and his subsequent rescue in Minneapolis is likely to create international complications. SENATOR EDMUNDS in a telegram says: The United States is bound to prevent its citizens from kidnapping persons in other countries and bring them here by force. BRAINERD, being a resident of a British colony, was as much entitled to the protection of the laws and government of Great Britain as though he was a subject. If BRAINERD was illegally seized or brought over the border by force, then it is a species of violence that neither the United States nor Great Britain can tolerate. It makes no difference whether the act in question was committed by private detectives or by officers of the law. In either case the kidnappers could by the extradition treaty, be demanded by Great Britain, and our government would be obliged to surrender them to the Canadian authorities for trial for violation of their laws. Of course, if it should appear that BRAINERD came over the line of his own free will and without any force being used, it would put a different aspect on the matter. But if it was on British soil he was entitled to the full protection of the laws of the land, irrespective of his citizenship. SENATOR EDMUNDS said that it would be dangerous and productive of serious results to establish the doctrine that citizens on one side of the border could make raids over the line and seize persons or property at their pleasure.

OUR SENATE.

The Montreal Star has hoisted its colors against the Canadian Senate as at present constituted. The Toronto Mail defends that body and the mode of their appointment. The Star alludes to these worthies as political mummies. Many Americans regard even their system of appointing senators as an anomaly in a free country. Perhaps they are right, says the Star, but if by adopting it Canada could secure a legislative body of the same stamp as the American Senate it would be an anomaly worth having. The main argument advanced in defence of the Dominion Senate by its friends is a weak one. They say that our upper House is the bulwark of provincial rights and that its abolition would be a menace to the smaller provinces. If the provinces had an equal representation, and had the power of determining who should represent them, this claim might have some force, but in the present case it is merely an excuse for the existence of the Senate urged in default of better reasons. Ontario and Quebec have each 24 representatives in the Senate, but the other provinces have a representation which is practically based on their population. New Brunswick and Nova Scotia have ten senators each, Prince Edward Island four, and Manitoba and British Columbia three each. To say that these senators can protect the rights of the smaller, from the encroachments of the larger, provinces better than can the direct representatives of the people in the popular chamber is palpably absurd.

THE CANADIAN ABROAD.

On a recent occasion, in alluding to Canada and the positions Canadians occupied in New York, MR. ERASTUS WIMAN, than whom a better authority on the subject it would be impossible to find, paid Canadians a very high compliment when he said: Knowing something, as I do, of the occupations which Canadians in this city pursue, of the infinite variety of employments and responsibilities entrusted to them, I can safely say that there is no State in the Union, no country in Europe, that has greater reason to be proud of the progress of her sons than Canada has of the position achieved by its residents here. There is hardly a department in commerce in this city, hardly an establishment of importance, there is hardly success achieved, but somehow or another a Canadian has a hand in it. Indeed, it has got in the minds of some leading people to be almost an axiom that Canadians, as a rule, are not only reliable, steady and honest, but, by the peculiarity of their training, their thrift and capacity, they are peculiarly fitted to occupy positions of very great trust and responsibility. If you look among the hardest workers in the great field of metropolitan journalism in this city you will find the men who are most respected and most relied upon are Canadians. If you look among the insurance companies you will find that among the men who do the detail of the work, and on whose judgment reliance can be placed, there will be found Canadians. If in Wall street, in banking, probity, reliability and capacity are needed, the Canadian banks and their excellent representatives occupy a position of the highest regard. In telegraph circles, in railroads, mercantile or professional pursuits, there will be found, if not brilliancy, certain reliability, promptitude and efficiency, excelled by the representatives of no other country. This much can be said, that while Canada has been made the last refuge of those who forfeit the trusts devolving upon them in this country, and to a certain extent has suffered in reputation by its contiguity to the great Republic, it has yet to be revealed that, among the vast number who have forfeited the confidence of their employers, or of the community there has been a single Canadian. Though there are good and bad in all communities, and the taint of human depravity exists everywhere, yet, to the honor and glory of Canada be it said, that out of the vast representation which she has, not only in New York, but throughout the United States, not a single instance has occurred showing a breach of trust, the embezzlement of a single dollar, or the forfeiture of confidence in the slightest degree. On the contrary, it may be safely said that the representatives of no other community, in proportion to its numbers, stand higher in the regard of their employers and their associates than do the Canadians and former residents of Canada now residents in the United States. Under such circumstances I may, I think, with a great sense of congratulation, feel proud to be able to welcome you here to-night, as the first organization of a distinctive nationality, having for its purpose the promotion of our common interests, the improvement of our social relations, the enlargement of our acquaintance with each other, a healthful effort to assist those who need assistance and to guide and direct others who are to join us hereafter in pursuit of a career of usefulness and fortune in this country. And here I would be doing a great injustice did I fail to recognize the hearty spirit of goodwill with which, in this noble country, all efforts for efficient service are received and welcomed. The treatment of Canadians by Americans, so far as my observation has gone, has been characterized by the greatest possible liberality and appreciation. The success of Canadians in the United States is the best evidence of this. The spirit of liberality and equality which welcomes to its shores the natives of every clime by its people, especially of this great city, has been fully exemplified by the way in which Canadians have been treated, and the hearty goodwill with which their efforts as employees and business men have been met. Not the least indication of this has been the cordiality extended to the effort made in the formation of this club and the kind words of encouragement uttered by the press and leading men with regard to it.

MANITOBA has sent its first shipment of flour to Scotland. It was made by Messrs. OGILVIE & Co., of Winnipeg, and was consigned to LEITCH & Co.

TORONTO Globe: Some of the British Columbia papers are getting alarmed because, notwithstanding the fact that in a few weeks more the Canadian Pacific Road is expected to be completed, and that in that event 15,000 Chinamen will leave the railroad track to seek other employment, the railroad magnates will endeavour to bring out emigrants from England, Ireland, and Scotland. The rate will be placed as low as £6, or $30. We are inclined to think that Manitoba and Ontario have equal cause of alarm with British Columbia. There will be no work for the Chinaman who enter the States. Where can they go except eastward to swarm into our cities and towns?

King Tye Company.

With reference to the special notice in to-day's Colonist signed King Tye & Co., I would beg to inform the trade and public generally that I was not, as stated, discharged from business connected with that firm.

In May, 1884, I became manager in this firm, and up to yesterday, when I tendered my resignation. It is easy to see that all transactions made by me personally, or under my signature as representative of the firm, must be valid, and for which King Tye Co. are responsible.

The sole cause of my resignation was a disagreement with my only resident partner.

FARM AND GARDEN

Fruit Prospect.

The June United States agricultural report is out. Prospects for the apple crop in New England and the Middle states are excellent. They are fair everywhere else, except in the northwest. There the trees were winter killed, and fruit growers are trying to get Russian apples to set out, so that they will bear the cold. Of peaches the report makes a remark or two that is worth noting. It says:

The past winter has fully demonstrated the unfitness of the more northern latitudes for peach-growing. From the upper Ohio valley and the lake states there comes but one report; it tells of trees all dead, whole orchards, even in the most sheltered situations, having succumbed to the severe freezings. In New England there was much winter killing, and the few surviving trees that bloomed were stripped of their blossoms by the late frosts of spring. New York and Pennsylvania shared in a like experience.

In Maryland, Delaware and New Jersey, where the peaches of commerce are grown, the bloom was good, and indications point to a crop slightly above the average. The cold, backward spring, with late frosts, has injured the otherwise favorable prospects in Virginia and North Carolina.

Georgia and all the Gulf states report condition unusually high. In the former state many correspondents claim that the outlook is for the largest crop ever known. Tennessee and Kentucky likewise report very favorable conditions, while in the west and northwest the almost universal expression is, "no blooms" and "tree dead."

Vine Planting.

For merely home use grapes may be planted almost anywhere, and they will do moderately well. For a larger scale, however, care must be taken in the selection of soil and location. Husmann says that vines do best upon high table land and hillsides, where they are fully exposed to the winds. This was certainly the experience in southern Ohio, along the river hills, before the Catawba grape ran itself out. The soil should be one that is naturally drained. "The vine does not like to have wet feet," says the writer above quoted. Heavy, wet clay soil is not good, though it can easily be improved by plowing into it sand and a little lime now and then.

The farmer must next know the varieties of grapes that are suited to his locality. It is best to obtain the plants ready grafted or layered. It is more difficult to bud or graft a grape than an apple. New varieties are obtained from seedlings. Many of the best are mere accidental growths, which have been discovered and cultivated and brought to perfection.

The Norton's Virginia and Cynthiana are excellent red wine grapes, which will grow in any locality. The Norton's Virginia makes, it is said, the best medicinal wine in the country. It has a small black berry. The Delaware, Martha and Concord are valuable market and table grapes. The Martha will grow anywhere from Maine to Louisiana. The Concord and Delaware thrive everywhere but in the farthest south. The Delaware is a valuable white wine grape. The Concord is a variety about which there is bitter dispute. Some growers maintain with enthusiasm that it is the best grape cultivated, while others vow they would not give it vineyard room.

But there is no doubt about the

AMBER.

At least there is no doubt about its beauty and excellence. It belongs to the same family as the Elvira. We give it here as much for its exquisite beauty as for anything else. It is a new grape, and the skin may perhaps be too tender for shipping, but for table and home use it is unsurpassed. It is a mottled grape, of a pale amber color, very rich and sweet. It thrives in every locality where it has been tried. The list is easy to extend.

Authorities on grape growing do not recommend the much-famed Southern Scuppernong varieties. Attempts have been made to reduce them to vineyard culture and make them profitable, but quite without success, so far as is known. The fruit drops and the grape rots quickly.

PLANTING THE VINE.

Put the rows six feet apart. Get good, strong, well-rooted plants one year old. Do not get extra large ones. It is better to plant in the fall. Prepare the ground thoroughly, and throw it up in ridges. Set the plants of the slow-growing kinds, such as the Delaware, six feet apart in the rows. Strong-growing, large varities should be set ten feet apart. It is not reasonable to expect them to bear till the third year.

The illustrations show how to set out the vines.

THE PLANT. THE SLOPING HOLE.

Prepare and prune the young vine till it resembles the figure on the left of the cut. Shorten the top down to the shoot, with its buds as shown. Trim the roots to the curve shown by the dotted line. The hole in which to set the vine must be dug in a peculiar way, seen on the right side of the illustration. Excavate the earth in a slanting direction. At the angle leave a little pile of dirt, on which to rest the lower end of the plant. Then lay it in so you see the stalk resting upon the slanting side of the hole. Cover it, and fill the excavation with fine mellow earth. Leave only the upper bud above ground. Hill up slightly, and throw a handful of leaves or rough manure or straw over the hill, to protect through the cold weather.

CULTURE.

Tend the ground about the hills the first summer with cultivator. Allow only one shoot to grow upon your young vines. Rub off all the others while they are green and tender. You want to make the plant widen out and grow strong. If it is tall enough stake it. That fall, when the plants have been growing a year, prune the strong plants back to three buds each, the weak ones to one or two. They ought to grow three or four feet the first year. The second summer cultivate the ground as before, and hoe around the plants. Stir the soil, but do not disturb the roots. The three buds you left last fall will this summer become strong branches that are to bear fruit next year. Let the two stronger grow, pinch back the top of the weakest. Pinch all back when they have grown to be three feet long. Then they are trained to a wire trellis, which looks something like a fence with only two strands of unbarbed wire. The shoots are carefully separated, so that the sun and air may get to all the leaves and clusters. This is important, as it prevents mildew and rot. Pruning is done through the fall and winter.

The wire trellis method is claimed to be far superior to the old-fashioned way of staking the stalks.

Tie the vines to the wire trellis with willow twigs or twine. Severe pruning back is good for the vine. Pinching off the tops of long lank growths with the thumb and finger, and rubbing off superfluous shoots in the summer when the sprouts are green and tender is an excellent way to prune grapes. "Summer pruning is the preparatory, fall pruning the finishing part," says a writer.

Questions Answered.

Ask any or all of the most eminent physicians:

"What is the only remedy that can be relied on to cure all diseases of the kidneys and urinary organs; Bright's disease, diabetes, retention, or inability to retain urine, and all the diseases and ailments peculiar to Women"

—Capt. Howe of the bark Isabel, which brought the cargo of tea to Tacoma lately, is grandson of the Hon. Joseph Howe, the famous Nova Scotian statesman. He was married the other day to Miss Jennie Ross, a handsome bluenose, who came all the way across the continent for that purpose.

—The committee of citizens to arrange for the Governor-General's reception met in the Mayor's office last night, the Mayor presiding. Nothing definite, further than that a public banquet would be tendered to His Excellency, was resolved on. A telegraph will be sent to Ottawa to ascertain when the governor and party will arrive at Victoria.

LAW SOCIETY.

Benchers' Meeting—Two New Members Called to the Bar.

Mr. W. Ward Spinks, of Kamloops, and Mr. T. C. Atkinson, of New Westminster, were to-day called, by the benchers, to the provincial bar; both gentlemen having been previously admitted as solicitors of the Supreme Court. Mr. Spinks was admitted as an English solicitor in June, 1876, and subsequently practised in London and Liverpool, until 1884, when he settled in this province. Mr. Atkinson was articled with the eminent Toronto firm of Messrs. Blake, Kerr, Boyd & Cassels, and has resided at New Westminster for nearly two years past.

Arrest of Mr. Cum Yow.

Mr. Cum Yow, late manager for King Tye & Co., was arrested this afternoon by Officer Sheppard on a warrant issued by the police magistrate. The charge, which is preferred against Mr. Cum Yow by the firm named, is that of forgery. He is accused with having unlawfully endorsed a note, on or about the 20th of August, in the name of King Tye & Co. At the time named Cum Yow was manager for the company, and claims to have been, and that he still is a member of said firm. The case will be heard before the police magistrate to-morrow. The accused is confident that he will be able to establish his innocence, or rather that his act does not bear the construction placed upon it.

The Lansdowne House.

Mr. John Partridge will open his new store, the Lansdowne House, in the Messrs. Williams block, Yates street, in a few days. The stock is fresh and selected with the greatest care for this market, embracing the latest novelties and styles in all classes of goods, while the prices will be found to be reasonable, considering the excellence of the articles offered. The Lansdowne will be one of our most popular dry goods houses.

A Famous Chef.

M. A. Portal dit L'Empire, whose reputation as a "chef" is of a national character, arrived in the city to-day, and will in future preside over the culinary department of our popular hotel, the Driard. The very large addition to the capacity of the house, and the increased patronage that is certain to follow, compelled the proprietors to secure the services of M. L'Empire. The Driard is bound to maintain its position as the best hotel on the Pacific coast.

Gone to his Rest.

We regret to learn of the death, this morning, of Mr. John Charles, son of Mr. Wm. Charles, late of the Hudson's Bay Co. Deceased has been in declining health for several years, and his death was not unexpected. He was 24 years of age and was a young man of talent and excellent character. He received his education in Europe, and had he lived would undoubtedly have made his mark in the world.

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL.

Lord Lansdowne and Suite now En Route to the Pacific Coast.

The Ottawa Free Press of the 11th announced that the first through train from that city to British Columbia conveying the vice regal party would leave Ottawa on the following morning. At 10 o'clock the special train steamed out of the depot yard. The train comprised, in addition to the locomotive, tender and baggage car, the Intercolonial Railway Pullman, the Cumberland, the property of the government, which will make the all rail trip across the continent, through Canadian territory to British Columbia. His Excellency is accompanied by Lord Melgund, Military Secretary, Honorable Mr. Anson, A. D. C., and two friends, Messrs. Hope and Streaters, who have been guests at Rideau Hall for a week or so past. There appears to be no programme of places to visit arranged as yet, and the trip will partake largely of an unofficial character. At Port Arthur an address was presented to His Excellency to which a suitable reply was made. He complimented the town on the progress it had made during the past ten years. Sixteen years ago there was but one solitary house on the site of the present prosperous town of over 6,000 inhabitants. He referred to the beauty of the scenery. Ever since day light they had traveled through scenery in which they were at a loss whether to admire most the grandeur of the works of nature or the skill and science of man in overcoming the physical difficulties which had to be encountered in laying the road. You may depend upon it, said he, that in these days when the inhabitants of our great cities are ready to travel any distance for the sake of obtaining recreation of mind and body, this district will, now that it has been rendered so easily accessible, be restored to by an ever-increasing number of visitors. He also was presented with an address at Fort William, after which he visited the Kakabeca falls. After luncheon the party left for Winnipeg, where a public reception was accorded them. Remaining there for a few days, excursions were made into the country around Winnipeg. A reception was held in the Parliamentary buildings which was attended by a large number of the citizens. On the 23d the opening of the Lethbridge and Dunmore railway to the Galt coal fields was to be celebrated. The journey towards the Rockies was then to be resumed. At Calgary a short rest will be taken before the Canadian Alps are entered. It is intended that as much of the mountain scenery as possible will be seen in daylight. It will certainly be a source of much delight to His Excellency and suite to view the magnificent scenery en route through the mountains. The trip will mark an important epoch in the history of the Canadian Pacific railway, it being the first vice-regal journey made over the entire length of the Canadian transcontinental line.

FARWELL NOTES.

The Liquor Troubles and Conflicting Authorities—Farwell's Future.

Mr. J. McGillis, who arrived down from Farwell last night, says the dispute between the Dominion and Provincial authorities has quieted down considerably. The arrival of Capt. Steele and a force of twelve men has had a pacific effect on the bellicose partizans on both sides. Col. McLeod's arrival was daily expected, when it was hoped the "entente cordiale" would be re-established and peace and harmony once more prevail at the second crossing. A collision with the Dominion forces was at one time imminent, and in fact was averted rather by good luck than good management on the part of Magistrate Sproat. Opinions differ as to where the responsibility rests. The Dominion policemen are charged with favoritism in the discharge of their duties, and it is said to be no secret that the liquor confiscated, instead of being destroyed, proves a profitable source of revenue to the disinterested conservators of the law. The supremacy of the Dominion law is conceded, but unfortunately for Dominion interests, its enforcement has not, up to the arrival of Capt. Steele, been in the right hands.

Mr. McGillis is of the opinion that Farwell is destined to be a place of considerable importance. Its future, as a matter of course, is dependent almost wholly upon the mining interest. The development of quartz mining in the famous Big Bend country, and in the vast region of which Farwell is the natural commercial center, means a bright future for the "city" on the Columbia. Without such development, on the other hand, age will not add greatly to its stature or increase its importance much beyond that which it at present enjoys.

Mountain fever was prevalent, and the rainy season has just set in. The death of Mr. Powers, who was highly esteemed by all the residents, was deeply regretted. He succumbed after a brief illness, to the prevailing disease. The health of the place, up to the outbreak of this local form of fever, was very good. It is Mr. McGillis' intention to return again at an early date.

Anti-Chinese Meeting.

Harmony Hall was well filled last night. Mr. T. Haughton, chairman, Messrs. E. P. Hamilton, Blackie, Tuckfield, Howell, Hawksby and others addressed the meeting, which adopted the following resolution:

Whereas, There are hundreds of unemployed workingmen in our city and province, with the prospect of their numbers being daily augmented this fall and winter; Resolved, That the workingmen here assembled in the interest of themselves and their fellow unemployed workingmen, ask the employers of labor generally to consider the want of their fellow countrymen by discharging the alien Chinamen and putting white men in their places.

Resolved, that this meeting recommend the appointment of a police officer, whose sole business it shall be to become acquainted with the inhabitants of Chinatown, in order to secure the more efficient administration of the by-law. Further that the cubic air by-law be altered, giving the police power to arrest all discovered violating the same, without the unnecessary form of getting out a summons. And that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to his worship the mayor and city councillors.

That upon the arrival of the Governor-General and suite in this province an address of welcome be tendered by a deputation from this association, wherein shall be set forth the interests of the anti-Chinese movement.

A final resolution, deprecative of the employment of Chinamen in manufactories and other branches of labor, was then passed and the meeting closed.
